

Press Release: For Immediate Release

Absolute Consulting Solutions Service Update – FREE Initial Assessments to Small Business Owners

"We do a FREE Initial Assessment with Small Business owners so that our client's can better understand that learning from their own mistakes is very expensive. It is better to learn from the successes AND mistakes of others. Once this initial assessment is done we make very intuitive recommendations that can be immediately used to improve their business" says Laura Fogarty, General partner at ACS.

Alexandria, VA, January 2011 - As experts in Business Innovation and IT Service Management approaches we are often asked why our services at Absolute Consulting Solutions (ACS) are so critical. Our short answer says Jim Fogarty, President of ACS, "Is that we 'Maximize Results that Exceed Your Expectations' so you can improve your bottom line".

We show our clients that their results can be compared to other people's successes and even their mistakes. Laura Fogarty, General partner at ACS reports, "We do a FREE Initial Assessment with Small Business owners so that our client's can better understand that learning from their own mistakes is very expensive. It is better to learn from the successes AND mistakes of others." Once this initial assessment is done we make very intuitive recommendations that can be immediately used to improve their business. A competitive advantage is achieved when we watch our peers and study their strategies. We do this so we can gain an edge, capture a new insight, or identify an improvement. We help businesses do this and can tell you that the most successful businesses are already doing to gain their own competitive advantage. "Businesses are successful most often when experience and innovation is leading the way" says Laura.

ACS helps business leaders focus on their own uniqueness, performance and the value of their products and services to not only their clients, but to themselves. We then use a leadership immersion approach to expose them to relevant Best Practice approaches that will take them more quickly to where they want to go. Jim Fogarty, President of Absolute Consulting Solutions says, "There is no faster way to increasing your bottom line than by focusing on new opportunities and by making value based improvements to your own products and services."

Many are finding that as businesses transition from reduced budgets and resources to new opportunities; faster results are achieved when they leverage value innovative stakeholders that are proactive of their opportunities and customer expectations. This awareness of value and opportunity quickly translates to meeting growing client expectations while making significant improvements to our client's own bottom line.

Laura Fogarty, Partner at Absolute Consulting Solutions said, "I am happy to tell you that we have released another Update to our Website that further describes our focus on Value Innovation and Leadership." "We thank our team and partners for supporting us in this update. Laura reaffirmed, "Our significant experience and innovative products and services remain our wheelhouse of providing value and focused strategies that support our client's success."
