

Absolute Consulting Solutions Business Forecast for 2010

Alexandria, VA, January 2010 - Jim Fogarty, PMP and CEO of Absolute Consulting Solutions forecasts that 2010 “will be a year where focus and leadership is essential for growth, new market share and value”. As the U.S. economy transitions from 2009 where budget cuts, reduced resources, and increasing expectations from our customers was the rule, our businesses in 2010 will necessarily turn their focus from “improving efficiency” to “improved operating results, value and performance”. This will require significant focus and leadership towards stakeholder collaboration and innovation that will improve results and alignment between our business strategy and tactical execution. This focus towards lean and results driven operating services, processes and technologies, driven by value innovative stakeholders will be what separates our businesses from the successful and the unsuccessful in 2010 as well as for the next three year’s.

About: Absolute Consulting Solutions, LLC

Absolute Consulting Solutions is a Service Disabled Veteran Owned Small Business who has significant value innovation experience. This unique skill set when combined with our expert Program and IT Service Management experience enables us to effectively prioritize and integrate product and service improvements into complex environments. We align critical capabilities with proven business strategies that deliver quality products and services on time. Value Innovation uses critical management techniques to find and implement solutions that maximize your results.

Contact:

Jim Fogarty PMP, President
Absolute Consulting Solutions, LLC
703-346-5824
e-mail: jim@absoluteconsultingsolutions.com
website: <http://www.absoluteconsultingsolutions.com>